Event Emcee | Keynote Speaker

Amy McWhirter is an international emcee, keynote speaker, moderator, and on-camera host known for vibrant authenticity, magnetic energy, and improv-trained delivery. She catalyzes content into connection- drawing out the heart of a message, threading themes in real time, and moving the room so ideas land and stick.

A lifelong performer and communicator - the five-year-old who volunteered to wrap a boa constrictor around her neck, the bumble ballerina at her first recital, later second place at the National Spelling Bee - Amy has always known that stage is where meaning meets magic. She earned a B.S. in Biopsychology with honors from the University of Michigan; that left-brain/right-brain blend of science and storytelling, plus training in improv comedy, powers her ability to translate complex topics across technology, healthcare, and finance into narratives people feel and remember.

Trusted by global brands including TSMC, Leidos, HSBC, Infosys, and GE, Amy has hosted multi-day conferences, awards galas, product launches, and executive programs from Dubai to Singapore, across Europe, India, and the U.S.

Whether welcoming thousands to a general session, moderating a high-stakes panel, or delivering her signature keynote - Be Present. Believe. Be Authentic. - she invites audiences to move from competition to genuine connection, moves the room, and makes the message land.
