

How Do Excel Clubs Help?

Each Exchange Excel Club selects projects based on the needs of the school, community concerns, and/or skills that club members want to improve upon. The members with the help of a school advisor and sponsoring Exchange Club member lead the club, decide on how to serve their school and community, and get actively involved.

Excel members typically share their time and talents to develop and execute projects, such as planning a prevention of child abuse activity, organizing a school clean-up day, collecting food for the underprivileged, setting up a grade school tutoring program, and adopting "grandparents" at a local nursing home.

When Do Excel Clubs Meet?

A club normally meets monthly, but does plan its own activities and meeting schedule.

BETTER YOURSELF AND YOUR COMMUNITY

Research shows that students who participate in service groups:
Have clear educational goals,
are more civic-minded, value diversity,
appreciate collaboration,
develop communication & interpersonal skills,
are more likely to vote, and enjoy school!
As an active member of an Excel or Junior Excel Club, you will learn to meet genuine needs in your school and community.

Mission:
Exchange, inspiring communities to become better places to live.

Excel Clubs, Power In Numbers

Excel Clubs are part of The National Exchange Club network. Exchange, founded in 1911, is a national service organization comprised of people who want to improve their communities, make friends, and have fun. The National Exchange Club is a network spanning the United States and Puerto Rico, all striving together to fulfill Exchange's Mission, inspiring communities to become better places to live.

Exchange Clubs make communities better places to live through Programs of Service in Americanism, Community Service, and Youth Programs, as well as Exchange's National Project, the prevention of child abuse.
