A message from the President...

Dear Members,

We will let all members know in advance when we schedule a Board Meeting. They are held at the Orange Grove Library starting at 1 p.m. Everyone is welcome to come to our board meetings. We welcome your input and fresh ideas.

You will need to let me know if you plan to attend so that we can make sure that there will be room. Sometimes, we have to use the smaller conference room.

I am looking forward to a great new year. The more you step up and let us know what you would like to see in the club the more likely we incorporate these changes.

See you at the next meeting.

Thanks,

Sue West, President

TACO SOUP
Submitted by Lynn Tate

Makes (12) 1 cup Servings

INGREDIENTS

- 1 lb. Turkey or Lean Ground Meat
- 1 Large Onion chopped
- 1 Pkg. Hidden Valley Ranch dressing mix
- 1 Pkg. Taco Seasoning Mix
- 1 can Pinto Beans
- 1 can Chili Hot Beans
- 1 can Whole Kernel Corn
- 1 can Stewed Tomatoes (Mexican Flavor)
- 1 can Stewed Tomatoes (any flavor)

INSTRUCTIONS

Brown meat and onions, drain. Mix Hidden Valley Ranch dressing mix and Taco seasoning mix into meat. Then, without draining, add all the other ingredients. Simmer one hour. If you can find the reduced sodium Taco Seasoning and Hidden Valley Ranch. It is very helpful because of the high sodium count in both seasonings and the chili hot beans. This is delicious served with baked Tostitos Chips. Many variations of this recipe are available on the internet. You can't go wrong with any version you choose.

Lisa's Note: I personally like to serve mine with shredded cheddar cheese and dollop of sour cream on top. Served with a nice tossed green side salad.

Thought of the Day . . .

Keep love in your heart.

A life without it is like a sunless garden when the flowers are dead.

The consciousness of loving and being loved brings a warmth and richness to life that nothing else can bring.

Bench Tips from Brad . . .

PICKLE PRECAUTIONS

A hot pickle pot gives off fumes that bother me in my home workshop. I get around that by using my pickle cold. I mix it a little stronger than for a hot pot so that it works almost as quickly. I keep it in a large-mouth plastic bottle and cap it off whenever I'm done using it.

PROTECTING FINISHED SURFACES

I figure that any accidental scratch I make on a piece means about 15 minutes of extra sanding and polishing. So after finishing major surfaces I typically cover them with some masking tape to avoid any scratches when doing final work like cleanups and setting of stones.

The blue masking tape used by painters works particularly well because it doesn't leave a sticky residue.

Amethyst

FACTS

Wedding Anniversaries—6th & 17th

- Mineral: Quartz
- Chemistry: SiO₂
- Color: Purple
- Refractive Index: 1.544 to 1.553
- Birefringence: 0.009
- Specific Gravity: 2.66
- Mohs Hardness: 7

The name comes from the Ancient Greek, derived from the word “methustos,” which means “intoxicated.” Ancient wearers believed the gemstone could protect them from drunkenness. The major sources are Brazil and Uruguay.

Amethyst is composed of quartz, which is the second most abundant material found in the Earth’s crust. It gets its color from irradiation, iron impurities and the presence of trace elements. Its hardness is the same as other quartz, which makes it a durable and lasting option for jewelry. It’s the gem that’s most commonly associated with the color purple, even though there are other purple gems such as sapphire and tanzanite.

Amethyst’s purple color can range from a light lilac to a deep, intense royal purple, and from brownish to vivid. Its purple color can be cool and bluish, or a reddish purple that’s sometimes referred to as “raspberry.” Amethyst also commonly shows color zoning, which in the case of amethyst usually consists of angular zones of darker to lighter color.

History & Lore:

Throughout history, the gemstone has been associated with many myths, legends, religions, and numerous cultures. English regalia were even decorated with amethysts during the Middle Ages to symbolize royalty. Amethyst jewelry has been found and dated as early as 2000 BC. It is one of the emblems of the twelve apostles.

Fine amethysts have been set in religious jewelry and royal crown jewels for ages. It was once considered equal in value to ruby, emerald, and sapphire. It’s no wonder that fine amethyst adorns the fingers of bishops as well as the coronation regalia of British royalty.

Because of its wine-like color, early Greek legends associated amethyst with Bacchus, the god of wine. Other legends reflected beliefs that amethyst kept its wearer clear-headed and quick-witted in battle and in business affairs. Being associated with wine, it was believed that wearing amethyst prevented drunkenness. It was common the Greeks drank from cups designed with Amethyst.

Leonard da Vinci said that amethyst helps to quicken intelligence and get rid of evil thoughts. Other qualities like peace, stability, courage and strength are said to be derived from this gemstone.

Amethyst played a big role in early Egyptian civilization. It was very common for pharaohs tombs to be adorned by the gemstone. Historians believe that wealth was experienced by Egypt at one point with the proof they have found in the tombs of that time period. When the country became very wealthy, the royalty of the country gave gifts of both Amethyst and gold to many of the families from the middle and working classes.

The British Crown Jewels consist of Amethyst. It is also said to have been the favorite gemstone of Russian empress, Catherine the Great. Egyptian pharaoh Cleopatra had an Amethyst ring which was believed to capture the hearts Julius Caesar and Marc Anthony, who were both Romans. After this happened, many Roman women began wearing Amethyst jewelry because they thought that it would help keep their husbands faithful.

Greece being known to be the first civilization to have recognized Amethyst, the gemstone actually does date back to biblical times. According to the Bible, there were twelve gemstones that on the breastplate that was worn by High Priest Aaron with Amethyst being one of them. Amethyst is also associated with both the Apostle Matthias and the Adnachiel, a Guardian Angel. Clergy members in the Catholic religion wore Amethyst and also used it for the adornment of the crosses. In the Buddhist religion Amethyst is believed to have been of significant meaning to Buddha. This is why malas, (Buddhist prayer beads) often contain Amethyst. In both the Buddhist and Catholic religions, the gemstone was believed to be representative of celibacy.

Amethyst

Empress of Uruguay”

Crystal Caves Museum in Atherton

The owners -- who were long-standing customers of the mine where it was found - paid US $75,000 for it in 2007 and spent another $25,000 moving it to Australia. It was vandalized August 1, 2011 by a tourist (thief) caught on CCTV camera. It is a little shorter now with a tennis ball chunk missing.
