This book is about a freshman in highschool who lives in a small town. He is not an official lawyer, but he helps out and wins many cases throughout the book. Until there is a murder case, in which Theodore gets stuck in the middle of. He knows who is guilty but the court has brought justice on an innocent man. What will he do?

This is a great book, and a real page turner. It has a nice story and is much fun. It is also kind of like the popular game ace attorney. It has a great storyline and I couldn't stop reading it. It's like an action book but all the fighting is done with words not weapons/hands.

I would recommend this to anyone over 5th grade. It is a little complex and long for younger readers, but there is nothing graphic, sexual, etc. All in all it's a good book for most people.
