On the first day of school, Nicholas said "yuck" because his hair was extremely messy. So he went to the salon with his dad to get a haircut. When he got out from the salon, he saw his friend Charlie from last year and said, "I hope we go in the same class" this year. He also went to the store to buy a new backpack and found the perfect one. Nicholas noticed that his feet hurt when he went down the slide, so Nicholas went shopping for shoes with his dad and also got some new clothes. When Nicholas finds out that his best friend Charlie is in his class he is ecstatic.

I remember my first day of school when I was in first grade, I was so nervous because I was in a new school with people that I didn't know. I was so scared because I thought the people were going to be mean to me. Then, I met my friend Ashley, she was super nice and friendly to me. We became best friends and are still friends during our senior year of high school. I'm so glad that Ashley is my friend, because throughout the years she has been really supportive. I also remember getting a horrible haircut around that time and dreading going to school in fear that kids would make fun of me.

This book is good for all ages. Parents can read this to their kids to help children visualize their first day of school. I ended up reading the book a few times and recommending it to my family and they all love it. We shared and relived the experience of our first day of school.
