The book Seekers by Erin Hunter is about three bear cubs that lose their family in some way or another and they have to learn to survive in the wild all alone. For instance, one of the cubs names is Toklo and he was abandoned by his mother when his brother died. Another cub, named, Kallik was going towards land with her brother and mother and when her mom accidentally fell into the ocean and an orca attacked her. With all of the confusion her brother somehow disappeared and was never seen again. The last cub, Lusa, at the beginning lives in a zoo but then she decides she has to go into the wild and she is all alone once she gets there. The cubs have many challenges they have to overcome such as, surviving and learning the way of the wild without a mom to teach them.

This book was very interesting and even though it was a little confusing at times it was a great read. Seekers was very well-written and had a very large variety of vocabulary. For that reason I would recommend this book to anyone who is at least 10 years old and loves animals. The only part about this book I didn't like was how sad it was but I'm sure if it hadn't been sad at times then it wouldn't be as great as it is. This novel is just under 300 pages so it is a good book to read before going to bed or on a road trip. If someone ever asked me what a good book to read was, and they liked the series by the same author called; Warriors then this would be the series I would recommend. All-in-all this book was amazing and if I have the chance I will definitely read it multiple times and in addition I will also be reading all of the following books.
