The book starts out talking about the 4 girls who are selected for an internship at the couture magazine. The book explains the twists and turns that the girls go through while at their internship. The boys, mistakes, partying and hard work make this book fun and exciting.

I really liked this book. I personally like these kinds of chick books because they are fun to read and many girls go through most of these situations so it is easy to relate. The book is written like a Gossip Girl book but I like this book better because the book is not all about partying. The girls are hard working and focused on their job at Couture. It has more of a plot than a Gossip Girl book.

I think the age group could be anywhere from 13 to 17. I started these types of books when I was young and I loved them. I think it is pretty much appropriate for all ages of teenage girls. If i had to either go to the library or check it out, I would probably just get it from the library because even though the book was really good, it probably wouldn't be a must-buy for me.
