

Throne of Glass* (Throne of Glass #1)

Sarah J. Mass

Reviewed by: Marissa Klippenstein, 21

Star Teen Book Reviewer of Be the Star You Are! Charity

www.bethestaryouare.org

Celaena Sardothien used to be the greatest assassin the world has ever known. When the loss of a close friend leads to her capture, Celaena spends a year in Eris's harshest and most isolating encampment. She gets an opportunity for freedom, however, when the Captain of the Guard approaches her with an opportunity of a lifetime: to compete in a contest to become the King's Champion. Desperate to escape her current imprisonment, Celaena accepts the offer, not knowing what new adventures await her in this deadly competition, or what friends she will make along the way.

It has been a long time since I've felt this way about a series. This book was everything I was looking for: adventure, fantasy, romance, plot twists, and more! Celaena is a very enjoyable character to follow. Contrary to many female characters in young adult literature, Celaena proves herself to be dynamic by being both deadly and "girly." Her love of fashion and material things, while also knowing how to handle herself in combat, was very quaint and a breath of fresh air. I also highly enjoyed the love interests. The romance was there without being the central focus of the book, which impressed me! The only thing I wish were different about this book is that the reader doesn't get to see as much of Celaena's skills as I would have liked. Other than this, Throne of Glass was a thrill to read from beginning to end!

I would recommend this book for ages 14+. Due to the main character's occupation, warnings are for fantasy violence and some sexual themes.

This book would be a great gift to anybody interested in fantasy, plot twists, and lovable characters!

Enjoy this book? Read these next!

Cinder by Marissa Meyer

The Darkest Minds by Alexandra Bracken

Shatter Me by Tahereh Mafi

Grave Mercy by R. L. LaFevers

Shadow and Bone by Leigh Bardugo