

1. Children in Ancient Judea had strict laws to be followed. The Synagogue was a place of daily teaching and learning. As a child, Jesus probably considered Himself more of an Ancient Hebrew, than a Modern Jew. If Jesus was a mortal man, he'd be defined as one who thinks outside the box. (so-to-speak). Able to detect lies, manipulation, false-witness, and recognize propaganda that drifts away from the truth. The Pharisees were greedy, and guilty of all the former. Obviously, Jesus had a wealth of knowledge, and knowing all, He detected faults in their teaching and behavior.

Moreover, the former Edomites had recently been assimilated into the tribe of Judah. Immediately, one of their own would now become crowned King by the Romans; King Herod the Great. (then his son, Antipas who sentenced Jesus). They were greedy as they'd sell-out their own religion and people when it helped them gain mercy from the Romans, money, and/or power.

3. All these enemies of God, would accomplish many of tasks via their use of deceit. Lying and trickery, was considered a profound way for the leaders to act in Judea and elsewhere within the Roman Empire; for accomplishing their goals of obtaining wealth and power. These corrupt teachings of false-witness and their application have never been forgotten, even though disastrous consequences occurred for the Jews by not listening to their Messiah. Identical to this present-day, disastrous consequences are now occurring, because we aren't listening to Christ. ← 2,000 yrs. later ! Why does so much Christianity remain abiding within this world, if al Christians refuse His word ?

4. The tribe of Judah, already featured its own problems when referring to comparison of the original Hebrews. At its climax of faltering from Gods chosen people, having God take away the land he gave them, and simply referring to themselves as Jews as far back as in the 10th century B.C.

5. Jesus took notice on all the false teachings of God and the very nature of God. The Pharisee's corruption was on a scale out of this world. Some referred to the Galileans as gentiles, but Jesus and His disciple worshipped to a truer nature aligned with the original Hebrew religion.

Nonetheless, even here, there was much to be taught, and some minor errs to be corrected.

6. The Pharisees/Scribes (Elders) performed similar actions we bear-witness too, in this modern day. The Jewish religion has become a vastly increased worship of man over God. It's true the elder's writings immensely increased after 70 A.D. when the survivors of the Roman sacking of Jerusalem traveled back to Babylon, although this behavior already grew out of control in the time of Jesus; as far as Christ was concerned.

7. The Edomites beginning was one generation after the birth of Jacob, who was born at the very end of the 3rd Millennium B.C. A long time had come to pass before the Messiah arrived. The tribe of Judah mixed with other cultures for centuries, (removing them from God's chosen), both having been involved in worshipping additional Gods such as Ra (Amon), Baal, and in Babylon the Jews continued to worship the teachings of Kabballah. It's no surprise Jesus was sent, as God must've become mystified how far-flung these religious elements had gone astray.

Referring to thought originating outside the box, the post WWII Baby-Boomer Generation have primarily done whatever they were told and believed whatsoever they were told.

They fully bought into the beliefs of an America without a ruling financial-class. Additionally, they felt granted the freedoms of privacy and speech. Furthermore, they assumed those in powerful positions were descent Christian people.

Unfortunately, they grew-up during the Zionist-Propaganda Age of television; here, we find no freedom of speech.

9. Our Conclusion →

Whereas, this behavior of Christ additionally abides within us; through the Holy Ghost. Thereupon and forevermore, alike the Christ, we think outside the box.

10. We must forbid allowing ourselves to be deceived by bankers, corporations, and freemason's infested with substantial levels of greed. We won't be fooled by the financially-elite who refuse heaven while lavishing in their pride, while completely blind to their lying, among other sins. For these are the ones who hear no word of God, therefore, cannot practice His ways.

11. Comparatively, to some of the first Christians, we display strength in the face of enslavement by the Antichrist. For we dismiss not, his wretched behavior of sacrificing (kidnapped) Christian children on the day of Passover and other Masonic religious occurrences; as this continues to occur today inside America. (e.g. the Owl Temple in Pittsburg, where bush disappeared to after being elected president.)

12. We'll open our eyes towards the 2012 end of the world myth predicted by the Mayans. As this was a reference to the end the Age of Pisces (the fish representing Christianity) and the commencement of the Age of Aquarius. (Lucifer's Age, otherwise known as The Great Awakening). We find this symbolism all throughout Hollywood, in the music videos of Katie Perry, Taylor Swift, etcetera, and constantly within television commercials. → Join the Hollywood Boycott. It's even begun to assimilate itself into our children's schoolbooks.

13. If we desire to be informed of the news, we won't simply allow our ears to perceive what another individual's being paid to relay, by orders of their commanding source. No, we'll read the facts for ourselves. If we read a book, it's only because we've already completed a quick research on the book's author and deemed it non-propaganda; which most books have become.

14. We're a new generation of Americans, who don't fall for liberal (or conservative) propaganda that's meant to weaken our community and drive conflicts within. (divide-and-conquer). We don't believe lies or the unknown, such as global-warming which depends on the sun and our moon. Moreover, if human action could affect global-warming, then we need to attack the financial-elite, who're draining our under-globe of all its natural resources. Nonetheless, it's they who run the global-warming campaigns and have all the liberals brainwashed. How can they not see this? Soon, they'll probably attempt imposing a worldwide global warming tax upon us.

15. Obviously, if you believe this to be true, then the financial elites who own the natural resources around the globe should be the center of focus. Indeed, they're the identical people inciting our fight against global-warming. It now infects the liberal minds like a disease inside Hollywood, the news, and spreads through the public via their alliance with the media.

16. No longer, will we play the stupid fool under bondage of their control, blind to the truth, and trapped within a prison of their hatred. For too long we've appeared extremely unintelligent. Nevertheless, this has come to subside. Our intelligent becomes vast as we turn our will over to God and allow ourselves to become blessed with the Holy Spirit.

17. Unfortunately, we've attempted to place our trust mankind, and fell victim, to certain wickedness and sin. Henceforth, I hope you've tasted the fruit of truth. For I wish it wasn't so, nonetheless, it's always been – man needs to trust God and not himself. Identifies through scripture: It's Satan who first desired man to possess our own free will and mistakenly act upon it.

18. Plato

“Good people do not need laws to tell them to act responsibly, while bad people will find a way around the laws.”

19. Closing words of wisdom

The problem in our Westerns Society is that far too many people are only using spirituality as a reserve weapon. When an Atheist is at war and bullets are flying over his head, he starts praying. “Oh God,” “Save me Jesus.” Don't be like this. This behavior brings no Providence into your life. Bring the Divinity of God to the forefront of your life. You'll feel considerably more confident when your arsenal provides the main weapon of a Sovereign Power that forms a shield of protection around you always. Furthermore, you'll be alert to this protection and aware of its power at all times.

† {1p} Our Failure as Christians [22:3]

It must have sent electric shockwaves through the mind of Judas as Jesus whispered in his ear, “go do what you must.” With this statement, Judas bore-witness to His divine knowledge of all things.

As we evaluate bearing-witness, can we acknowledge a more impressive situation of a man bearing-witness in all of human history, thereupon, this scene with Judas and the Christ?

Now, after Judas had already placed himself indebted to the Jews* he must’ve already thought he was wrong in his actions and erred against Jesus. He begins to second-guess his decision, declaring it an over-reaction from zealous thoughts of a Messiah who’d defeat Rome militarily.

 Once again, our eyes open in glorious fashion as the Holy Spirit ordains more knowledge. Likewise, these constant comparisons with innumerable disappointments of the identical problems still occurring today, display our utter failure two-thousand years after Jesus Christ’s teachings, to properly apply them in our everyday lives and throughout our society; never-mind, across the globe.*

The correct question isn’t: what did Jesus want from us? It would be properly phrased: what does Jesus want from us? He’d never acquiesce on His mission to guide us, right?

We’ve come to realize; the size of our universe is infinite. Is it possible God has other focuses? Almost undoubtedly, right here in our own Milky Way Galaxy there’s hundreds of other planets and moons which life dwells upon or lives within. But there couldn’t possibly be other planets which supplies an abode for intelligent lifeforms to the like of a human-being, isn’t that correct? It seems there could be many Gods in the heavens created by God the Almighty Creator of the Universe.

Hereupon, scripture defines God as having other divine angels (gods) throughout the heavens with (below) Him. Undoubtedly, man on earth has yet to uncover the full truth of God or other divine beings beneath Him which exist; yet, some things are undeniable. Indeed, there can be no doubt that Jesus Christ is the word who came to procure an everlasting special relationship with mankind. With this in mind, let’s hypothesize additional theories, knowing after we come to pass, more will be revealed. What if Christ was busy living out his thirty-three (33yr.) year life on other planets? Although, we basically know (almost definite) that God perceives everything at all times, anyhow, and the Christ is the overseer of Earth; but what if He’s been busy elsewhere in the vast universe. Maybe, He can be everywhere simultaneously, but He’s placed His attention in other areas. Now, the real question...

... What would Christ say if after two-thousand years, He arrived upon the earth today or tomorrow? What He bears-witness to would be the same exact issues that were His problematic concerns, all of which He thoroughly addressed as are the core of God's lessons, are continuing their existence and multiplying at a pace of rapidity? All the same it is, especially, within the once Christian countries that continue to support a ~~majority~~ large population who somehow worship Him? Seriously, just imagine if He hasn't been watching, preoccupied with something else, and He arrived in this manner. All the love which shines through and upon us from this sovereign being is the greatest gift and opportunity we could ever ask for or even imagine. He's love that's eternal with no limitation, yet the shock conveyed into Him, results in a fury of His wrath brought upon our once beloved earth; I said once, because no longer it is.

He'd probably assume there was never any existence of Christianity born from His followers. Massive debt, allowing the Jews to control others, and an absolutely, out of control level of Bearing False-Witness occurring on-the-regular. The Pharisee's, with their greed and love for material objects, but for the most-part, money has in no way been separated from our lives. Actually, quite the opposite has occurred as physical money dictates our lives'.

Flip the script now. Imagine how onerous it's been for God to watch us learn and build-up our material world which displays great promise, but also witness our slow decay of belief and following over two-thousand years.

We didn't simply cease applying some of His teachings. (not all). We took much of What He told us to avoid and multiplied its existence – one-hundred-thousand times over!

Remember the money-changers at God's temple?!

This was the one occasion Jesus had to display violence, in order for man to relate to the importance of what He was doing!

Besides our entire government operating of Jesus' forbidden system of usury, the bearing false witness has been a magnanimous element of our lives; and remains a highly validated concern. Christ said this deplorable behavior must be eliminated and labeled it, as one of the top worst sins.

Nevertheless, America and Europe, the two Christian lands, right now are dominated by false-flag attacks and bearing false witness in our schoolbooks, the teaching of our history, and our media; and this is all committed exclusively by Jews (and their Masonic, CFR, and Jesuit allies) who're acting in this identical nature which the Apostles removed from their lives!

Henceforth, I now ask all the Christians in America and Europe...

Q: Did the Christ's disciples battle afflictions to remove this behavior from their life? Did the Early Christians faced martyrdom, thereupon bestowing the blessing of allowance to live a Christian lifestyle today?

A: Nevertheless, our decision was to allow this corruption (identical to what the Christ preached against) back into every aspect of our lives! This behavior is completely unacceptable and disgraceful, at best.
