

“Sounds the Heart Makes”
By Aqueila M. Lewis-Ross

Have you ever listened to the sounds the heart makes?

As my babe snuggles deeply In between realms of sleep and awakeness,
Soft hmms compete with mimicking coos
She was the first to hear the music
Like dancing notes on the page
An awaiting orchestra softly plays a lullaby
A forgotten powerful vibration Heard first in the womb
This is love
First loves have completed their cycle
