By Aikya Param

Ruth Bader Ginsburg triumphed over constant daunting obstacles to become a Supreme Court Justice. Her decisions attacked specific gender discrimination and violations of women’s rights. RBG never missed a single day of oral arguments even when undergoing chemotherapy for pancreatic cancer or surgery for colon cancer. She worked with a personal trainer in the Supreme Court exercise room and could lift more than colleagues Justices Stephen Breyer or Elena Kagan. In the court’s black robes her symbolic collars and lace gloves celebrated her achievement as the first Jewish woman and the second woman to serve on the Supreme Court.
