

1980: Gissar Ridge, Tajikistan

unspecified day of August, round 5 am

Source: Sergey Shpakovskiy, Vladimir Malanichev

The exclusive camping place near Gissar

The witness, Nadi S, who was staying at a summer camp in an isolated area, suddenly awoke with a feeling that someone was attempting to “contact” her somehow. She felt energy around her. Another friend, Volodya G also awoke apparently feeling the same energy. Volodya then told the witness that the energy was somehow related to her, he turned over and continued to sleep. At this moment as she sat on her camp bed, she heard a mental voice asking her “Do you want to leave the tent?” Even though it was very early, she walked out of the tent. Outside she felt pleasant, with the morning dew falling on her and the break of dawn in the distance.

Suddenly she sees a tall figure squatting behind some nearby bushes. The figure is similar to a man and she feels a “force” emanating from him. The figure then rose and stood in front of the bush. Desiring to approach to him, the witness realizes that she cannot go directly. She approaches sideways in a circular route, in order to see the tall figure, which is partially hidden by bushes. As she neared the figure suddenly disappears leaving behind only a shiny spark, which continued to shine for few moments. The witness is somehow touched very deeply by this experience.

Two weeks later the witness again was in the same tent when she felt the strange sensation again. She walked out of the tent and saw the tall figure standing about 20 meters away by a clearing. The figure appeared to be a bit hunched over but it definitely gave the impression of being a person and not a robot or an android. Suddenly the witness heard a noise from the nearby brook and noticed several luminous humanoid figures slowly floating towards her direction. The figures slowly descended to the ground near the tent. The tall humanoid seemed to bow as if greeting the luminous humanoids and the witness at the same time. One of the luminous figures looked directly at the witness and said, "How do you do? We are already familiar to you".

They asked the witness in a simultaneous mental message where her friend Larissa was. The witness mentioned that she was sleeping down by the river at another cabin (according to the source it's the Seoma River, Gissar Ridge); they looked in that direction and said, "Yes, we see". At this point the witness suddenly remember an event that had apparently occurred the night before at Larissa's tent; she had seen the luminous humanoids floating over the tent, one of the humanoids approached Larissa, who had been extremely ill and made some movements with his hand over her, the next the she was totally cured.

The tall luminous humanoids had large slanted eyes, large protruding foreheads and pointed chins; their bodies were surrounded by a beautiful bluish aura, which appeared to fluctuate, like blue flames on a candle. On their backs they had blue protrusions resembling short wings. According to the humanoids, these wings were natural power sources that helped them to fly. The witness felt a complete sense of love and understanding emanating from the creatures, and did not bother to ask many questions since she felt that they were definitely here to help humanity. The witness was convinced that these creatures were the angels described in ancient texts. Soon the witness felt a strong pressure in her head and her memory became cloudy and she does not remember how the humanoids left. She was left with the impression that these luminous beings visit the earth very often.

Notes: Seoma River doesn't exist in Tajikistan. Probable Sea River

Reliability evaluation:

- very low -

no declaration from the other witness available;

insufficient and incorrect details;

no investigation available; no credibility;

possible misunderstanding, dream, fabrication or hoax

