College Rd

My Girlfriend and I went out to grab something to eat at Taco Bell. We got our food and drove north on University Avenue and then we drove east on College Road. As we drove I happened to notice and point out a light in the sky that emanated a glow somewhat like a flash light shining through a crystal. Otherwise it looked like a normal star. We stopped by a field adjacent to the department of Wildlife Management, still facing north. Two radio towers stood in front of us approximately 2 miles away. Directly above the radio towers the light could be seen just very far away. I thought it's important to note because we were able to see the light slowly move south of the blinking radio tower. We were astonished at that point because the light began shining even brighter. The object appeared to be moving west towards our location. It then decreased in brightness and then increased getting brighter then dim again. We sat for about an hour and a half watching the very distant light move very slowly! South then west towards my location. My girlfriend was getting very scared, but I convinced her to stay again. The light then stopped moving and began to get dimmer and smaller until it completely vanished. We sat astonished and dumb for about 40 minutes. My girlfriend who was a staunch UFO skeptic was shaken for days.
