

1914: Blida, Algeria

Unspecified summer day, late night
Source: Le Forum De L'Ufologie en France

Postcard of Blida, WWI - correct site not available

In the Summer of 1914, at night, right before the declaration of WWI, a French resident was walking back home from his field after turning on the irrigation valves, when he watched a large luminous sphere flying over his head. Then it landed silently only a few meters far from him. Afraid, the witness quickly ran behind a fence from where he could see several short figures coming out of the sphere. The figures wore helmets and light-colored suits. They moved around on the grass very quickly, apparently collecting samples and grass from the ground. Shortly after, the small figures re-entered the landed sphere, which took off and quickly disappeared from sight. The next day, other neighboring farmers reported they had seen a luminous sphere flying over the fields the night before.

Reliability evaluation:

low

insufficient info

1975: Oran, Algeria

Unspecified summer day, late night
Source: Lumières Dans La Nuit, article by Denys Breysse, Project Becassine

The site: Rue Benshila Bouadjemi

Late in the night, 11 years old boy Djamed Nedjar was sleeping when he was awakened by the sudden trembling of his body. He looked through the large window and saw a figure standing outside and staring inside. This figure was described as about 1.70 meters tall, looking like a human male of about 30 years of age, and wearing a glowing white suit. The figure seemed to be oscillating slightly from side to side.

The boy thought he had kinda hallucination and ran out in the yard to look for the luminous white figure. There was no trace of the entity and everything was quite and silent.

Reliability evaluation:

low

possible misunderstanding, insufficient info

