The rural area of the incident, east of Santa Clara, today

At a local farm called “Dolores”, Miss Caridad Martinez, a local worker, reported seeing a strange winged humanoid descending from the sky and landing on a plot. She saw him because he landed not far from where she was working. The strange winged figure approached Martinez and communicated with her in a strange language, which she could not understand. According to her, the only word she was able to comprehend was “Tierra” (Earth).

The strange humanoid was carrying on both hands a luminous object which apparently emitted a strange gaseous substance that made Martinez very dizzy and almost semi-conscious.

Further, she described the stranger as having yellowish skin a round face, very tall (over 7 ft). The humanoid had a silvery disc-shaped plate which appeared to be attached to the stomach area. The most bizarre fact of the encounter was the huge pair of wings which the humanoid had attached to its shoulders that hung down to the waist area. Using these same wings the strange creature rose back up into the sky and disappeared from sight.
