

2006: Golkowice, Czech Republic

June 20, 11:26 through 11:31 pm

Source: NPN © – <http://www.npn.ehost.pl>, of June 21, 2006

The Polish Czech border

Glimmering object was seen near Polish – Czech border in Golkowice. As far as now there aren't any other information about other possible sightings of similar object. Additional information will be revealed in further publications concerning this case. The sighting was witnessed from a place located on Polish side of the border by a guard.

Krzysztof (the witness) wrote:

“Yesterday, I worked on a third shift and being on a round of a vast area I noticed a strange star-like object over Czech Republic, at right from two about 100 meters high chimneys (bordering with Polish Godow), several kilometers behind them. It was suspended several dozens of meters over the ground (at an altitude lower than that of the chimneys) and shone as a star with red light. It resemble the star Antares with its blinking, but the object was much more brighter. Its brightness wasn't constant and varied from -1 mg to -2.5 mg in the late phase of my observation. The object was suspended motionless in the air for first 2 minutes and then began coming down vertically and very slowly. When it was descending it showed further discrepancies in its brightness and it was clearly visible that it shone alternately with red and yellow light. During the last seconds before it vanished it dimmed being hidden by rises of the area and was barely visible. Then, being very close to the ground, it lit up with intense and glittering brightness. Then it dimmed again disappearing behind the hills. At the time of the observation, I estimated that the object was 25 km away (it seemed to be several kilometers behind those Czech chimney that are positioned about 20 km from the place of observation).”

Reliability evaluation:

- medium -

something really seen in the sky; one witness only;

possible confusion with an airplane;

no investigation

