A few notes on the RPI

The RPI is an objective tool meant to provide some additional information for coaches participating in the Coaches Poll. It is not a definitive ranking and is not a substitute for other forms of analysis.

The RPI is an objective calculation using the same basic formula used by the NCAA for all sports. The formula uses 3 factors: Team's Record (25%); Opponent's Record (50%); Opponent's, Opponent's Record (25%).

The RPI does not look at head-to-head wins any differently. It is possible and very likely that a team with a lower RPI has a win against a team with a higher RPI.

As with all calculations, the more data available, the more accurate the information.
