

Update on the Lake Iola fish surveys from our DNR fishery biologist Jason Breeggemann,

"Following the issuance of the Safer at Home order by Governor Evers, the Fisheries program has determined the spring lake surveys are non-essential. Therefore, we will not be doing any spring surveys until the order is lifted. If the order is lifted and lake conditions are still within our protocols for conducting spring netting surveys, we will try to get a fyke netting survey of Iola Lake done yet this spring. If we are unable to get a netting survey done this spring, we will try our best to reschedule the surveys within the next year or two."
