

Name: _____

The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe—Chapter 2

In the story, Lucy has “tea” with the faun, Mr. Tumnus. In England, tea can mean more than the drink. It is also a customary 4th meal eaten in the late-afternoon (mid-way between lunch and supper).

Silenus is the ancient Greek god of dance and drunkenness. He has the body of a man and the tail and ears of a horse.

Nymphs were Greek goddesses of nature. Dryads were the nymphs of trees and forests.

Bacchus is the Roman god of wine and merry-making.

In German mythology, a Dwarf was a human-like creature that lived in caves or underground.

According to Judeo-Christian tradition, Adam and Eve were the first man and woman.

Vocabulary:

Melancholy—sad

Geography—the study of the earth’s surface

Mantel-piece—a shelf above a fireplace

Jollification—merry-making, joyful celebration

Cloven-hoof—an animal’s hoof that is split in the middle, like that of a goat

Stag—a male deer

Merely—simply

Lull—to calm, relax, or cause to fall asleep

Presently—soon

Rather!—certainly

Innocent—has done nothing wrong

Questions:

Name: _____

1. Why does Mr. Tumnus call Lucy a "Daughter of Eve"?
2. How does he get Lucy to come to his cave?
3. How does he entertain her after they have had tea? Why?
4. What happens when Lucy says she has to go?
5. What had the faun planned to do with Lucy? Why?
6. What is he afraid will happen if he doesn't do what the Queen wants?
7. Why doesn't Mr. Tumnus do what he had planned to do?
8. What does Lucy give the faun to remember her by?