

Job 1:21

"He said, ' I was naked when I was born. And I will be naked when I die. The Lord gave these things to me. And he has taken them away. Praise the name of the Lord.'"

In the land of Uz a long time ago lived a man named Job. Job was one of the richest men in the world. He had herds of sheep, cattle, and camels, and a large family of seven sons and three daughters.

Job was a good man. He worshipped God with sacrifice and prayed every day. He prayed for his children, that they might obey God.

The Lord loved and was pleased with Job. God mentioned Job to Satan, saying that there was none as good as he was and that he would always turn away from evil to right.

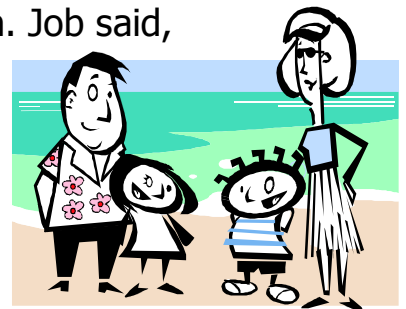

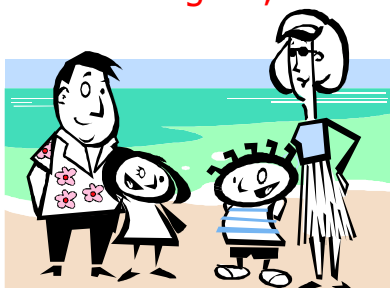

The devil answered that it was easy for Job to serve God because God had blessed him so much. But God told the devil he might try Job and find out if he would stand the test. Now Satan caused boils to break out on Job's skin from his head to his feet. Job was miserable and could not find a comfortable position, the boils hurt so badly.

His friends came to see him while he was sick, and told him God was punishing him. Then his cattle and camels and servants were destroyed, but Job sinned not, but trusted God. His sons and daughters were killed, yet he still believed in God.

God had proven to Satan that Job was a good and faithful man. Job said, "The Lord gave, and the Lord has taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord." Satan let him alone.

God blessed Job and gave him twice as much as he had before. Once again he had seven sons and three daughters, and his pastures and fields were green and covered with animals. He lived to be old and served God all his life.

We hope that you have found these studies helpful for your child in understanding a little more about our great God.

These studies are dedicated to:
Deborah Irwin Baker – Great Niece, Deceased
Kevin Bradley Helms – Great Great Nephew of Geneva Caldwell who wrote these stories while in Lakeshore-Wedgewood Estates

These stories were written by a woman who had no children but put her interest in children, especially those that were neglected and unable physically to take care of themselves.

These stories are a part of God's Word, and it is quite necessary that children learn of Him and His divine promise to those that love Him.

It is the hope of this author that she be able to relate to children some of the most familiar stories of God's Word. The facts and stories have been taken directly from the Bible.

There is no attempt to introduce denominational creed or doctrine, but just the Bible's written word.

The truth must be introduced from generation to generation, and hopefully this will be one small way of doing this. May these stories interest your children and make them realize God gave His Son for them.
