

I.P.A KIDS ACTIVITY

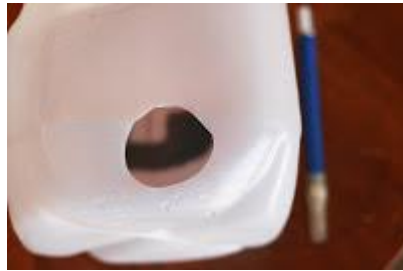

Spirit Jugs

BOO! These Spirit Jugs are so easy to make and about as inexpensive as they come. We came across the idea for these ghostly guys a couple years ago on family fun. We knew with as much milk as our kids go through, it would take us no time at all to have all of the supplies handy.

You will need

Clean gallon milk jugs
Black permanent marker
Craft knife
String of clear low-wattage Christmas lights

Here's how it's done

1. Let your kids colour in the faces while you while you fetch the biscuits.
2. Using the craft knife (mum), cut a hole in the lower backside of the jug about 30mm wide.
3. Line all of your ghosts up and stuff several lights in each one.
4. Place your group of glowing spirit jugs along your walkway or front porch to welcome those cute little holiday guests.
5. You could also use battery operated lights if you wanted to spread them out all over your yard. The nice part about them all being hooked together with the Christmas lights though is all you have to do is plug the cord into one outlet and you are in business!!
