Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing this reference letter on behalf of Tre' Gammage, who delivered a 3-hour presentation with our student discipline and behavior support staff. As a member of the Charlotte Mecklenburg School District, I had the pleasure of attending this presentation, and I can confidently say that Tre' made a significant impact on our team.

The presentation focused on developing capacity for supporting students, and strategies that can be shared with the schools we support. Despite the challenge of navigating two rooms simultaneously due to a lack of space, Tre' managed to keep both groups engaged and attentive throughout the entire session. His ability to connect with his audience was impressive, and his content was informative and thought-provoking.

What impressed me the most about Tre' was his ability to create a comfortable and welcoming environment that fostered open communication and active participation. His presentation style was energetic, and he used humor and real-life examples to reinforce his points, making the session enjoyable and informative.

Since the presentation, Tre' has continued to work within the Charlotte Mecklenburg School District, providing valuable support and expertise in areas related to student discipline and behavior. His dedication to his work, coupled with his excellent communication skills and expertise in the field, make him an invaluable asset to any organization.

In conclusion, I highly recommend Tre' Gammage for any position that requires a skilled and knowledgeable presenter. His ability to connect with audiences, engage them in meaningful conversations, and leave a lasting impact is truly exceptional.

Sincerely,

David Spellmon
