

ACKNOWLEDGE YOUR WEAKNESSES

By: Fountain Hendricks

Psalm 119:96

A weakness is a lack of ability. It is NOT a hinderance. A weakness does not stop you. It limits you. It slows you down. It does not stop you. It delays you. It does not destroy you. When your weaknesses are ignored, your progress will be restricted.

WEAKNESSES TURNED FOR THR WORST

If you do not acknowledge your weaknesses it will eventually become a disability. The way your weakness becomes a disability is by simply IGNORING it.

What you do not feed will eventually die. If you continue to starve your weaknesses it will cripple you. What cripples you will stop you and that becomes a hinderance.

To avoid your weaknesses becoming a hinderance give attention to what is lacking in your life.

WHEN A WEAKNESS BECOMES A HINDERANCE

A weakness that turns into a disability becomes a hindrance. No one enters this life as a complete being. We come flawed and imperfect. We are gifted yet corruptible. We are resilient yet dysfunctional. We are intelligent yet foolish at times.

The flaws of your life are not to be ignored and overlooked. They are meant to be acknowledged so you can strengthen them. It may be difficult to strengthen your weakness, however it is necessary.

People who choose to cultivate their strengths AND build on their weaknesses have an advantage over the individuals who ignore their weaknesses. The advantage that they CREATE is the ability to go FURTHER FASTER

AND FARTHER. Their potential becomes unlimited because their ability is elevated.

A basketball player who is one dimensional cannot competitively compete with a player who is multi dimensional. The more you can do on the basketball court, the greater your chances are of winning. This same concept applies to life.

Wealth, health, abundance, promotions, fame, influence, power, contentment and significance chase the people who are MULTI-DIMENSIONAL. These attributes are attracted to people who have the capacity to balance themselves.

You can only pour so much water into a vessel with a hole in it before it starts leaking. You can only put so much weight on a foundation that is cracked. When weaknesses are not addressed, LIMITATIONS are put in place.

Psalms 119:96 says, "Everything I see has its limits, but your commands have none." NCV.

There are limits to everything. However, the Lord's commands are exempt from limitations. If you adhere to the instructions and to the wisdom of the Lord it is possible to live whole, completed and contented.

A wise person cultivates his strengths and builds upon their weaknesses so they can be better than they were yesterday!
