

AGE MATTERS

By: Fountain Hendricks

Mathew 11:12

The age group you are in shapes your values. Age reveals a lot about a person. It reveals what customs they were raised with. It reveals what principles they were taught.

It reveals traditions they were groomed to honor. It reveals what type of expectations they carry in their mind. I know many people believe that age is just a number but that is not true. Age is more than a number. It is a THOUGHT PROCESS.

The silent generation had a thought process of going along to get along. They did not ruffle feathers nor push for change. They had an attitude of taking what was given to them whether it was good, bad or indifferent.

The baby boomer generation had a thought process of making CHANGE and PROGRESS. They protested, rallied, marched, formed organizations, stood up against the government and opposed the status quo. They had an attitude of taking what they needed by any means necessary. The baby boomer generation were willing to endure major pain to reap major change.

The millennial generation has a thought process of CONVENIENCE. Whatever makes life easier and simple they gravitate to. They gravitate to a world of technology and immediate gratification. They have no patience to wait on anything. They have an attitude of entitlement, which can be a good thing and a bad thing depending on how it's utilized.

Having the attitude of thinking that people owe you something is bad. However, that same entitlement attitude of thinking that you have the right to live a great life is good.

WISDOM IN EVERY GENERATION

There is wisdom to gather in every generation. A wise person studies the secrets of success in every generation and uses them to their advantage.

The silent generation taught us that saying nothing sometimes is necessary. When you are trying to build something you do not need to inform everyone of what you are doing. ANNOUNCING YOUR GOALS INVITES ENEMIES!

The silent generation were able to live their lives with little opposition because they did not announce what they were doing. They built families, businesses, and legacies while avoiding major opposition.

The baby boomer generation were radicals compared to the silent generation. They taught us that making a DIFFERENCE cannot be achieved absent of change.

If you want to see improvement and progress taking things by force is necessary. People may not like it, may not agree or may fight you. However, there is one thing that life has shown us and that is some things will not be given to you if you wait for them.

Some things REQUIRE that you take it by force. Mathew 11:12 says, "And from the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force."

The millennial generation has taught us that a convenient life removes stress, increases health and adds peace. Achieving a work life balance, while living a simple life is easier said than done.

Understanding how technology and artificial intelligence should be incorporated into your daily life is NECESSARY for living stress free. Before technology, if you wanted to invest in stocks you had to call a stock broker, go to the library and do research to build wealth.

With technology you can build wealth from your phone. How convenient is that? There is wisdom in every generation. Utilizing the goodness in each generation will help you to be more effective in building relationships.

AGE MATTERS WHEN YOU HAVE A DESIRE TO UNDERSTAND PEOPLE.
