DAY 59

SUBJECT: EMOTIONALLY INVOLVED

I made the mistake to allow myself to become emotionally involved with working a job. I worked for a nursing agency for eleven years. I grew within the ranks. I started as a Staffing Coordinator and ended as an Assistant Human Resources Manager.

I loved this company. I loved what I was doing. I loved the people I was working with. Everything in my professional life SEEMED to fit me perfectly.

When the business took a huge financial hit and the leadership changed, everything changed.

UNFORTUNATELY, I did not change. What use to fit me started irritating me. What pleased me started bothering me.

What stimulated me started boring me. I noticed that the owner of the business stopped caring about his own business. Instead of pursuing other opportunities I got emotionally involved. I allowed my passion for the company to keep me hindered from reaching my own possibilities.

My emotional involvement left me DISAPPOINTED in the end. My emotional involvement led me to a place I REGRETTED. I took care of the company's business and ignored my own. I managed their affairs while abandoning my own.

I solved their problems while mine hung in the balance. I was very foolish! I was manifesting another man's dream over my own because I became emotionally involved. When you become emotionally involved with something your HEART BECOMES ATTACHED.

It is not easy to walk away when you are emotionally involved. It is not easy to give up when you are emotionally involved. This was my mistake. I gave my heart to an organization that was not committed to me. Proverbs 14:12 says, "There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death."

I thought I was doing the right thing. I was wrong. I put my heart in the WRONG place. I put my commitment in the WRONG place. I put my trust in the WRONG place. I trusted people while loving God rather than trusting God while loving people. This perspective caused me to reap extreme disappointment.

Jeremiah 17:5 says, "This is what the Lord says: "A curse is placed on those who trust other people, who depend on humans for strength, who have stopped trusting the Lord."

TAKEAWAY: When you think with Wisdom and refuse to allow your emotions to lead you the results of your decisions will benefit you greatly! Becoming emotionally involved with something will PREVENT you from seeing things with a wise perspective.
