MASTER'S FORUM

Good Day Brethren,

As spring unfolds before my eyes I also see my year as Master quickly drawing to a close. Clichés about renewal come to mind, but for me personally, it marks an end to a journey I started shortly after joining Lodge. I will remember the events of my being initiated, passed and raised to the end of my days and delight in having participated in many Degrees as I progressed through the chairs. I quickly noticed the deeper understanding I gained from the act of memorizing and participating in the many parts and lectures that fell to me along the way. The same can be said, even more emphatically, of my year in the East yet, I am left with the distinct feeling of being a mere novice, barely able to understand the concepts in question. This is the true richness and depth of Freemasonry. Though I can truly say I have profoundly enjoyed my year as Master, I am sure it will take many years to unpack and understand all I have learnt. It is all still so very new, and Freemasonry is so very old. So for now my gaze is not drawn nostalgically backwards, but rather forward to the distant horizon. Masonry has introduced me to so many well informed Brethren, many of whom have progressed to the East. For those who became Past Masters their lives seem not to have been diminished when their successor was installed, nor was their advancement in knowledge halted at that juncture. With this I welcome and delight in this passing, this renewal of my Lodge, this eternal spring that will carry Freemasonry into the millennia ahead.

Fraternally yours,

Wor.Bro. James Hormoth
Worshipful Master
