91) A PI was hired by a client to get a photograph, by any means, of a man who works in an office downtown. The client did not provide a reason; just that he needed a photograph by any means possible. There was one other stipulation. The client did not want the person to find out who he was and that he asked for a photograph to be taken. The PI stopped the man on the street and flashed his credentials and badge and said he was a detective from the local police department and that the man fit the description of a bank robber and the detective needed his photograph to show the bank employees. The man, knowing he was innocent and believing the PI was a detective, voluntarily allowed the PI to take his photograph. Even though GA has a reciprocity agreement with FL the PI is arrested for illegal carrying of a firearm. Why? (493.6115)

- a. A class "G" license only allows the PI to carry a concealed firearm while on duty. In order to carry a concealed firearm off duty you must also obtain a FL Concealed Weapons Permit.
