Many ships sail in and out of Boston Harbor every day. The area around the harbor is also home to several kinds of whales. Unfortunately, each year some of the whales are hit by ships. In 2007, ships were told to take a new route, which is four miles north of the old one. It is hoped that this change will reduce the number of whales that are hurt.

1. What happened in Boston Harbor in 2007?

2. Where do a lot of whales live?

3. What happens to some of the whales?

4. What will reduce the number of whales getting hurt?
