

Name _____ Date _____

Mary McLeod Bethune

Mary McLeod Bethune was born in Mayesville, South Carolina on July 10, 1875. Her large family lived in a cabin on a small cotton and rice farm. Mary was a hard worker and helped her family in the fields picking cotton.

For six years, Mary happily walked five miles along a dirt road to school. She was enthusiastic about learning to read and write and would share her new knowledge with her brothers and sisters at night. Thanks to a scholarship from a dressmaker, Mary was able to continue her education.

After completing her studies, Mary decided to become a teacher. She taught in schools in Georgia and South Carolina. Her dream was to open her own school for girls where she could teach them useful things. Such a school was greatly needed because at that time there were few schools for African Americans. She opened a school for African American girls in Daytona, Florida which later became Bethune - Cookman College.

Mary received many honors for spending her long life educating young people and helping others.

Fill in the blank with the correct word.

1. Mary Bethune lived in a _____ on a small cotton farm.
2. Mary's _____ was to open her own school.
3. Mary _____ a school in Daytona, Florida for African American girls.
4. Mary is from _____.
5. Mary _____ her family in the fields by picking cotton.
6. Mary _____ to become a teacher.
7. Mary _____ in schools in Georgia and South Carolina.
8. Mary received many _____ for spending her life educating children.
9. Mary walked along a _____ road to school.
10. Mary received a _____ from a dressmaker to continue her education.
11. There were _____ schools for African Americans.

Name _____ Date _____

Mary McLeod Bethune - Answers

Mary McLeod Bethune was born in Mayesville, South Carolina on July 10, 1875. Her large family lived in a cabin on a small cotton and rice farm. Mary was a hard worker and helped her family in the fields picking cotton.

For six years, Mary happily walked five miles along a dirt road to school. She was enthusiastic about learning to read and write and would share her new knowledge with her brothers and sisters at night. Thanks to a scholarship from a dressmaker, Mary was able to continue her education.

After completing her studies, Mary decided to become a teacher. She taught in schools in Georgia and South Carolina. Her dream was to open her own school for girls where she could teach them useful things. Such a school was greatly needed because at that time there were few schools for African Americans. She opened a school for African American girls in Daytona, Florida which later became Bethune - Cookman College.

Mary received many honors for spending her long life educating young people and helping others.

Fill in the blank with the correct word.

1. Mary Bethune lived in a cabin on a small cotton farm.
2. Mary's dream was to open her own school.
3. Mary opened a school in Daytona, Florida for African American girls.
4. Mary is from South Carolina.
5. Mary helped her family in the fields by picking cotton.
6. Mary decided to become a teacher.
7. Mary taught in schools in Georgia and South Carolina.
8. Mary received many honors for spending her life educating children.
9. Mary walked along a dirt road to school.
10. Mary received a scholarship from a dressmaker to continue her education.
11. There were few schools for African Americans.