Sam's Bedroom

Sam's older brother Andrew started college last month. Sam and Andrew shared the same bedroom for a long time, but now it is only Sam's. He is excited to have his own bedroom.

Andrew took his bed and all his books to college. There is more space in Sam's room now, so his parents bought him a new desk. Sam likes the desk very much, but he doesn't like the color of the walls. They are purple. Last week, he asked his parents, "Can I change the color of the walls?" Sam's father said, "Sure. I'll help you."

The next day, they went to the paint store. "I like black," said Sam. "I want to buy black paint for my room." His father said, "No, let's choose a different color." Sam and his father looked at many different paint colors. Sam and his father bought some brown paint. They will paint his room next weekend.
