Larry's Clothes

All summer Larry had been visiting his grandmother in another city. When he finally returned home it was almost time for school to start again. This year he would be in the fourth grade. He was very excited about starting school this year. He was really happy to start getting ready for school. Larry and his mother always shopped for school clothes before the first day so Larry would have new clothes for school.

As Larry and his mother began looking at his school clothes in the closet there was one problem. The problem was with his shirts and pants. They were too tight and they were too small. Larry could wear his sweaters. His mother was very surprised that he had grown taller in one summer. She was also surprised that he gained so much weight in one summer. Then, Larry and his mother started to wonder if his shoes would fit. Just like the clothes, the shoes were too small. Larry had grown so much. He certainly didn't look like a third grader anymore.

Larry and his mother planned a shopping trip for the following Saturday. The mall was not very far from their house, so they planned to leave before lunch and take only a few hours to shop. Larry and his mother could get the clothes and shoes from a large department store in the middle of the mall. Afterwards they could go to the food court and have a quick lunch. Then, Larry would be ready for the first day of the fourth grade.
