

Do you accept the bribe ?

You are a police officer with one child in college. You have been having financial problems for the past year. Your wife does not make enough money to handle all of your financial needs. Three of your credit cards are at their maximum but you are having trouble paying the minimum payment.

One day while on patrol, you pull over a man for speeding. It turns out that the man is very wealthy. He tells you that he can't afford to get another speeding ticket or he will lose his license. If he loses his license, he won't be able to get to work. He offers you 2,000,000 yen to not give him a ticket. He guarantees the money is untraceable.

Do you accept the bride?