Letter from the Director

Dear GNS Families,

This Annual Report is our opportunity to share and reflect on all that was accomplished during the 21-22 School Year. We have so many reasons for gratitude and some changes that made us pause, so we can reflect and grow. We can all be proud that Greenwich Nursery School a private, nonprofit preschool was able to continue to serve our community for our 48th year and is poised to expand and introduce new programs in 22-23.

The 21-22 School Year started off with numerous COVID protocols that remained from our previous year. Thankfully those requirements were eased by March of 2022. I want to commend our Staff for how seriously they took the additional tasks placed upon them including washing the toys daily and monitoring their classroom for sickness. I want to thank the parents that kept their children home when they were unwell and the quick communication with the school if a communicable disease such as COVID was affecting their family.

Our Staff did not skip a beat and we are so lucky to have such a friendly and dedicated staff. They ensured the school ran smoothly while the Director position was transitioned from Mrs. Mallory to Mrs. Andersen in January 2022.

As an organization, we are excited to help the school grow and expand its current offerings to better align with what our parents and community members are looking for in a preschool. I am excited for the future of Greenwich Nursery School with the input and help of families like you.

Sincerely,
Amy Andersen
Director of Greenwich Nursery School

Curriculum

Greenwich Nursery School follows an abbreviated version of the HighScope Curriculum due to our school being a half-day program. By using HighScope, Greenwich Nursery School looks to foster child creativity, confidence, and independence. HighScopes' prepare, do, review process allows us to take an active learning approach to early education that research has found achieves powerful, positive results.

HighScopes' goals for young children

- To become independent, responsible, and confident problem solvers and decision makers – ready for school and ready for life
- To gain knowledge and skills in important academic, social, emotional, and physical domains through active involvement with people, materials, events, and ideas
- To learn to plan many of their own activities, carry them out, and talk with others about what they have done and what they have learned
- To develop strong executive function and self-regulation skills that will last through adulthood
