$3,000.

Stenzel Auction Service held an auction for the Maxine Osborne Family of Polo, Illinois and families from: Kewanee, Illinois, Oneida, Illinois, Dixon, Illinois, Bettendorf, Iowa and Clinton, Iowa. The auction took place at Collectors Hall at 135 West Center Street in Cambridge, Illinois with live in person bidding and online. Not all items are available for online bidding. So you should always plan to attend our auctions and bid live. This was a great auction with something for everyone.

This was a large auction offering many items! With a great selection of primitives and lots of advertising items. We had a large selection of crocks from Red Wing and Western.

Nationwide Crowd Of Dealers Showed Off Their Advertising Collectibles At The Show

Article & photos by Jack Kelly

A 1950's gasoline globe, brought to the show from Texas and sold for $30,000.

Toy collectors hovered around the booth of Mike Stevens, from Georgetown, Indiana, for a closer look at his vintage marbles priced from $100 to $2,400.

The show again saw the gates open on the Indy Advertising Show at the Boone County Fairgrounds northwest of Indianapolis.

Dealers from as far away as Texas and California traveled to the event, filling all available buildings of the fairgrounds.

The show was hosted by promoters Damon and Angela Granger, who also host a similar spring event at the Indianapolis Fairgrounds.

First time Indy dealer John Pace of Southgate, Michigan, showed one of his many Coca-Cola items for sale at the show, this 1940's die-cut Coke Santa, 32" x 43" cardboard sign, priced at $2,000. Dealer Ph: 734-363-4712

For $5,200 you could have taken home this 16" x 22" tin litho advertising tin litho serving tray from Gary Metz of Roanoke, Virginia. Dealer Ph: 540-520-8029

Ground Hog Day
Sunday, February 2nd

It's definately been busy around our house since October. I can not remember the last time I had a weekend off. I did get Thanksgiving and Christmas day a little. You know how you always tell yourself soon I'll go on a vacation or take a break. It just never happens. This weekend we are driving to lower Michigan. Our god daughter is pregnant with twin boys. So, two days of driving, one day of visiting everyone, another for the baby shower and home and back to work. Then the next weekend, there is a good possibility that Mekenzy and Noah will be able to move into their house. Bob (dad) closed on his condo this week. He seems to be settling in ok. Some rough patches here and there. Todd, Brandon, Mekenzy and Noah all went over on Saturday to finish hanging up the prints and mount the television on the wall.

Someone stops by almost daily to check on him and see if there is anything he needs or needs done. Brandon is at a stand still until his electrician comes out. Right now he is just trying to figure out where to put lights and light switches. He is starting to figure out what his parents endured while building our house and having three young children at that time, plus full time jobs. We tell him he is doing great and accomplishing more than we had at our age. It's unusual to look around and see how much the the world has changed from our younger age to our kids now and then to imagine our parents world to ours as kids and now.

"WINTER WONDERLAND"

A Special Exhibit at the 51st Winter

Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association Show And Sale

January 31 & February 1, 2025 (Friday & Saturday) • Waukesha (Milwaukee) Wisconsin

Article & Photos by Debbie McArdle (Iron Horse Antiques)

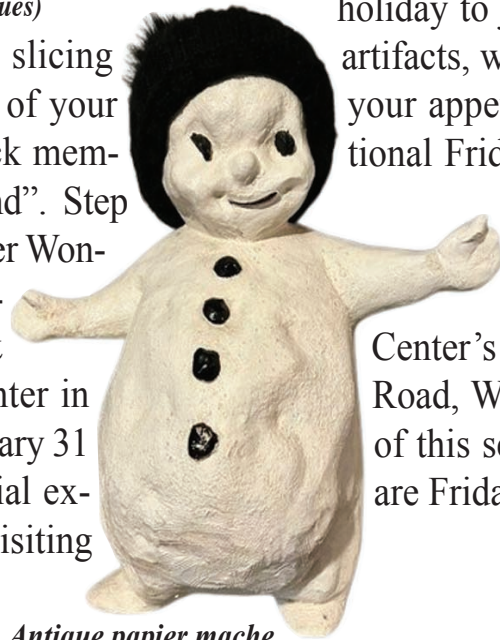

Glistening snowflakes, sounds of skates slicing through the ice, mittens snapped to the arms of your snowsuit and a chill on your cheek bring back memories of our own childhood "Winter Wonderland". Step back in time and visit a special exhibit - "Winter Wonderland" - for attendees of the 51st Winter Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association Show & Sale held at the Waukesha County Expo Center in suburban Milwaukee, Friday & Saturday, January 31 & February 1, 2025. In addition to the special exhibit, the show will host 58 antiques dealers visiting from 8 states.

Top collectors have been invited to share, from their personal collections, their treasures representing winters past. Antique snowmen and dolls to winter sports - and everything in between - will be represented in the special exhibit displayed for show attendees as an educational, once-in-a-lifetime experience.

EXPECT THE UNUSUAL!

The show will feature 58 antiques dealers from 8 states. In addition to W.A.D.A. member exhibitors, there will be a great number of non-member participants - some from Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Missouri, Michigan and Minnesota - who rarely, or never, exhibit in Wisconsin. Here collectors will find a wide variety of affordable and authentic antique offerings all indoors and under one roof.

Wander the show's three large rooms providing spacious aisles and booths. Visit with knowledgeable dealers and learn more about your favorite field of collecting! Merchandise spanning many centuries, from vintage holiday to jewelry to antique cupboards to ancient artifacts, will be found at affordable prices. Bring your appetite! Stop for a catered lunch or traditional Friday night fish fry where the reputation for delicious food continues. Plenty of indoor seating is available. Red Wing Collectors Society MidWinter Weekend January 30th Through February 1st, 2025

Article by Doug Perkins

The opportunity to buy and sell Red Wing is always top of mind for collectors and dealers, and the Red Wing Collectors Society (RWCS) MidWinter Weekend never disappoints. Hundreds of stoneware and pottery collectors will look to add to their collections at the event, which will take place January 30th through February 1st, 2025 at the Holiday Inn Hotel and Suites on Merle Hay Road in Des Moines, Iowa.

The event will officially kick off with a formal Show and Sale featuring fresh inventory from about a dozen dealers from 3-5 p.m. on Thursday, January 30th. Around 40 additional attendees will sell stoneware and pottery from their hotel rooms, many starting earlier in the week and extending through Saturday.

Education is also an important focus of RWCS events. Dave Ohrt of "American Pickers" fame will give the keynote presentation at 5 p.m. on Friday, January 31st. Dave has made a living buying, selling and collecting antiques for nearly 50 years and he was always fun to watch when he appeared on the popular History Channel show. He's sure to share lots of stories and answer questions from the crowd.

Earlier in the day, at 1:30 p.m., longtime RWCS Member Dave Kuffel will speak about the Pottery Museum of Red Wing, which is celebrating its 25th birthday this year. Then, a 25th birthday party for the Pottery Museum will follow Ohrt's keynote at 6:30 p.m., where registered attendees will be treated to a generous spread of food, birthday cake, and a cash bar.

Mid-Winter will close out on Saturday with the RWCS auction called by Harry Lahr Auctions. Approximately 200 items will cross the auction block and several high quality items have been consigned for the sale, including Red Wing salt glaze crocks and water coolers, Elephant Ear decorated stoneware, Art Pottery and a rare Grayline "spongeband" cake plate. New this year, the auction will be open to the public. Non-members will pay a 20 percent buyers premium (BP). But, there won't be a BP for RWCS members registered for MidWinter, and they'll be able to enter the preview earlier than the public.

All activities will be held at the Holiday Inn Hotel and Suites at 4800 Merle Hay Rd in Des Moines, Iowa, which is located at the intersection of I-35 and I-80 in Des Moines. Visit the "Events" page to register or learn more about the Mid-Winter Get Together. Event pre-registration costs $40 per person, and includes admission to all activities and food on Friday night.

You can also follow the RWCS on Facebook. Annual membership in the Red Wing Collectors Society costs $45 and includes five full-color newsletters mailed to your home throughout the year. Associate membership for members in the same household costs $15 annually.

(Primary membership will increase to $55 starting on March 15, 2025, so join before that date to take advantage of the cost savings.) The RWCS was founded in 1977 in Red Wing and there are more than 2,000 members worldwide.

For more information or to become a member, call the RWCS business office at 651-388-4004, e-mail membership@redwingcollectors.org.

The $40 online RWCS MidWinter pre-registration deadline is January 20th, 2025. After that, registration increases to $50 per person and must be completed onsite. Kids 15 and under are free.

NOTE: Members of the media wishing to attend MidWinter should contact RWCS Member Services Manager Angie DeGreeff at 651-388-4004 for a press pass.

For more information, contact RWCS MidWinter Co-Chairs: Doug Perkins, 701-326-4263 or Chris Tincher, 316-708-5272

The Red Wing Collectors Society (RWCS) is pleased to Welcome longtime antique picker Dave Ohrt from "American Pickers" TV fame as the keynote speaker at the 2025 RWCS Mid-Winter event on the evening of Friday, January 31st at the Holiday Inn Hotel & Suites NW in Des Moines. Pictured here with his mid-1960s C2 Sting Ray Corvette, Ohrt has made a living buying, selling and collecting antiques for more than 50 years. He scouted filming locations for "American Pickers" for the show's first 10 years of production. Photo courtesy of Dave Ohrt.

Guests of the Holiday Inn Hotel & Suites on Merle Hay Road in Des Moines, IA are sure to be greeted by lots of Red Wing stoneware in the halls leading up to and during the Red Wing Collectors Society Mid-Winter Event, January 30th through February 1st, 2025.

Wisconsin Decoy And Sporting Collectibles Show Present Their 2025 Year Calendar

This is your opportunity to have your Wisconsin Working Decoy pictured in next year's calendar. Bring your favorite decoy to be voted on for inclusion in 2026!

Your Wisconsin Decoy and Sporting Collectibles Show is proud to present their 2025 Yearly Calendar. The calendar was new to the Oshkosh show this year. The 2025 calendar will again feature Wisconsin Working Decoys. The decoys chosen for the calendar this year were voted on by collectors' peers at the 2024 show.

Calendars can be purchased in advance of the show by contacting Kristin at kristin@paine.com. They will also be available for purchase at the March show. Held again at the Hilton Garden Inn at 1355 W. 20th Avenue Oshkosh, WI 54902. You can reach the hotel at (920) 966-1300.

Dates this year are Friday March 7th 9am-4pm, and again on Saturday March 8th from 8am-1pm in the ballroom. There will also be room to room trading prior to the show on Wednesday and Thursday March 5th and 6th.

Decoys are always the main event at our shows but there are all types of sporting collectibles available for all collectors. Items such as duck and goose calls, hunting knives, traps, wildlife paintings and prints, shotshell boxes and cartridges, all types of vintage fishing tackle and a large selection of collectors books.

The response for the 2025 show has been enthusiastic! Tables for the show are now available. To date, many have been reserved. The show looks to be a sellout.

Institute Releases Top Selling Antiques & Vintage Data For 2023

Article by Charles Green (Ashford Institute Of Antiques)

The Ashford Institute's fifteenth annual survey of top decorative arts buying trends from the past twelve months is now available digitally and in print nationwide. The international poll of students and alumni by the Institute serves as an essential guidepost for many in the industry, especially as it relates to the current state of today's decorative arts marketplace, and as a directional sales barometer for those working in the antique and vintage business.

The school's unique position of having unfettered and direct access to a substantial number of industry respondents has made the survey a staple for many in the decorative arts community.

Anthony Harper, the school's lead researcher, says the key to getting meaningful survey results that antique and vintage businesses can actually use to help plan their inventory and buying strategies for the upcoming year is based on receiving actual sales data, alongside item-specific requests from buyers, which can then be used to indicate interest within a particular collecting genre.

Harper says that while most other industries suffered from early supply-chain issues in 2023, it was actually a boon to many working in the decorative arts business, since supplies of used goods were already readily available. "People turned to antiques and vintage items when they couldn't source new," said Harper, "in large part because the items were right there in front of them and could be immediately taken home." This accessibility helped dramatically bolster sales of Victorian and Early American pieces according to many of the dealers involved in the survey. Although supply-chain-buys from those originally looking to purchase 'new' could have potentially affected the poll's stats, Harper says he's firmly convinced the numbers will hold. "Our survey has been showing a resurgence of interest related to brown furniture for a while now," he noted, "but this past year it really began to resonate in a much larger way with a variety of different buyers and collectors."

Fan favorites like Mid-Century Modern and Art Deco also continued to run strong with many of the dealers who participated in the poll, however, Amber Shole, who's been compiling school survey statistics for over twelve years now, says there were some newcomers to the scene as well. "The modern motif isn't over by a long-shot," said Shole, who admitted to witnessing a surprising comeback from a 'look' that many had relegated to the oddities-pile of the 1980s. "It's definitely not a trend I was expecting to see," she said, "but I've learnt over the years to never underestimate people's affinity for nostalgia." Shole went on to say that aside from the quirky 1980s style reboot, there was also another one from the 1950s which didn't involve MCM, but also made the list. "It's really interesting," she says, "just when you think you've seen everything from a particular period of time and collecting genre, something else pops up seemingly out of nowhere." All of which Shole says is why she thinks readers are likely to find a few unexpected surprises in this year's survey results.

As with previous trend samplings, Shole notes that it's primarily Millennials who are continuing to move the needle forward when it comes to buying and collecting. "You may still find Boomers at Sotheby's and Christie's," she says, "but everywhere else it's almost certainly going to be a younger crowd driving the creation of new collecting trends." For readers seeking the complete 2023 listing of all the best-selling antique and vintage genres and categories contained within the school's yearly poll and survey, you can find the full results (including this year's winner) by visiting the Institute's website at:

To learn more about the antiques and appraisal study program being offered by the Institute, you can contact them directly at: 877-444-4508, or visit their website at: . You can also write to them at: Ashford Institute of Antiques 981 Harbor Blvd., Ste. 3, Dept. 275TQ7 Destin, FL 32541

Advertising Past Or Present Works...It Got You To Attend

An early 1900s 27" long full figure cow, with moving head clockwork mechanism was priced at $1,750

by Dave and Allie Smith of Bartlesville,

Oklahoma.

Dealer Ph: 573-280-5167

This 42" wingspan papier mache' eagle advertising Majestic Radios and priced at $3,500 was in dealer Steve Mumma booth. Steve is from West Des Moines, Iowa. Dealer Ph: 515-255-2525

Pop plaster countertop candy sucker head figures priced from $400 to $600 each. Still others "ooohed and aahed" over a colorful screen-printed 18" self framed 1920's Fatima Cigarettes tin tray that could hang at your home for $1,400.

It was a bit shorter drive for Terry McPherson who traveled 900 miles from Arlington, Texas, to set up for the fifth year at the show. Serious gas and oil memorabilia collectors stopped to admire his mid-1950's Around the World brand gasoline pump advertising glass globe with a price tag of $30,000 and yet another tag marked "sold." Advertising tin collectors checked out his 12" x 12" square full figure tin advertising shoelace "filling station" filling station illustrated display tagged at $3,600.

Another Texas dealer, Bart Stevens of Irving, Texas, showed off a large group of car racing and other sports collectibles. Twenty-one pennants priced from $150 to $6,500 each filled the booth, along with a 14" x 22" 1960's Santa Fe Speedway Chicago-area framed cardboard poster for $250.

Still another long distance team, Dave and Allie Smith, showed goodies they brought from Bartlesville, Oklahoma. Foot traffic stopped at their booth to check out an early 1900's furry 27" long standing full figure cow that Allie called a "point of purchase piece." The clockwork mechanism milker's head would move up and down to attract shoppers' attention and could entertain for you at home for $1,750. People who like smaller items checked out their 9" long pre-1900's Victorian style porcelain and cobalt glass straw drink dispenser, priced at $850.

Not everyone traveled long distances to the show. Alfred Baker drove just 15 minutes from nearby Zionsville, Indiana to show off a colorful 3' x 5' cotton cloth RCA "Nipper Dog" advertising banner that he purchased at an antique market in London, England. He tagged it at $400. Bottle collectors hovered around his display of 15 cast metal advertising wall-mounted bottle openers offered at $40 each.

Many folks stopped to gawk at the 42" wingspan papier mache' eagle perched on top of the figure of a globe advertising Majestic Radios. The advertising piece, made by the famous Old King Cole Advertising Display Co., was priced at $3,500 by dealer Steve Mumma of West Des Moines, Iowa.

Dog lovers checked out the early 1900's cast iron 6" x 14" footed floor model dog feeding dish advertising Hudson's Soap, priced at $650 by Bill Krohn of Dowagiac, Michigan.

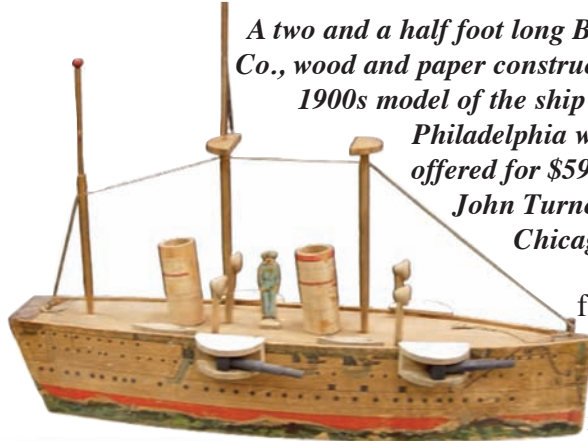

A set of three different 1940-50's plastic

First time Indy dealer John Pace of Southgate, Michigan, displayed this 6" x 6" x 12" light up Canada Dry advertising sign tagged at $550.

Dealer Ph: 734-363-4712

A two and a half foot long Bliss Co., wood and paper construction 1900s model of the ship

Philadelphia was offered for $595 by John Turney of Chicago.

"We were jam-packed full, using all the buildings on the fairgrounds," said Damon Granger, who noted there was an additional breweriana and bottle collectors event added to this year's line-up.

California dealer Carl Lepiane and wife traveled seven days from LaQuinta, California with a whole van full of goodies, taking time to "shop along the way." Many admired their trio of 1930's country store Watta priced at

$650 by Bill Krohn of Dowagiac, Michigan. Dealer Ph: 269-591-5737

(3) Wattapop 1930's candy sucker displays priced $400 to $600 each. Driven to Indy by Carl and Sea Sea Lepiane of La Quinta, California. Dealer Ph: 408-891-9054

Alfred Baker drove just 15 minutes from near by Zionsville, Indiana, to offer a display of (15) cast metal advertising wall mounted bottle openers at $40 each.

For $5,700 you could have taken home this early 1900 Beemans Chewing Gum tin litho from Gary Metz of Roanoke, Virginia. Dealer Ph: 540-520-8029

Jay Kemplin of Times Past, from Farmer City, Illinois, strikes a pose with his 1920's Babe Ruth Louisville Slugger store model bat priced at $700 and sold at Indy.

Dealer Ph: 217-419-1422

Toy collectors hovered around the booth of Mike Stevens, from Georgetown, Indiana, for a closer look and to marvel at the action of this 18" tall 1920's automaton with music, offered for $800.

13" tall microphone shaped radio station advertising radios rescued from a closed radio repair shop brought to Indy by Dareyl McKinney of Hamilton, Ohio could play at your place for $220 each. At the same spot, a 1930-40's, punched tin 23" x 35" light-up ice cream sign was offered for $450.

Model collectors hovered around the two and a half foot long Bliss Co., wood and paper construction, early 1900's model of the ship Philadelphia priced at $595 by John Turney of Chicago. Toy collectors admired his 7" tall 1930's Marx Pop Eye and Olive Oil windup tin toy offered for $850.

First time show dealer John Pace of Southgate, Michigan, showed off lots of soda pop items including 6" x 6" x 12" high light up Canada Dry countertop display priced $550 and a 1940's 32" x 43" die-cut cardboard Santa Coke sign for $2,000.

Sports collectors checked out the 1920-30's Louisville Slugger store model Babe Ruth bat in "un-used" condition by dealer Jay Kemplin of Falls, City, Illinois priced at $700. At the same spot, a 30" round 2016 Chicago Cubs neon beer sign could shine bright at your place for $350.

Tin lithograph collectors hovered around the booth of Gary Metz of Roanoke, Virginia, for a closer look at his near mint 6-1/2" x 9" early 1900's embossed tin litho Beeman's Gum advertising sign priced at $5,700, while others checked out his 1905 tin litho self framed 16" x 25" Old Valley Whiskey sign offered for $5,700.

Marble collector traffic stopped at the booth of Mike Stevens of Georgetown, Indiana. For a closer look at his display of 1910-1940's collection priced from $100 to $2,400 each. Others marveled at his 18" tall 1920's French automaton with music that could entertain you for $800.

While another year will pass before the show returns to Boone County Fairgrounds in Indianapolis, Indiana on the fourth weekend in September. In the meantime, shoppers and dealers can look forward to the spring show, always held the third weekend in March at the Boone County Fairgrounds in Indianapolis, Indiana.

As the fall show closed, dealers and visitors heaped compliments on show promoters Damon and Angela Granger, who took over management of the event this year, calling "better than ever before."

What's New At The Wausau Antique Show?

Article by Audré & Ray Hanson (AR Promotions)

Promoting The Wausau Antique Show the past 40 years has been a wonderful job, located at D.C. Everest's Greenheck-Turner Field house, Weston, Wisconsin.

We have met so many wonderful dealers with quality displays and listened to zealous collectors who are hunting for an item, that could be rare, odd or unusual, but they all have a story or reason for their collecting.

Due to health reasons Ray and I have transferred the Wausau Antique Show to Bob and Tim Zurko of Zurko Promotions Inc. We are confident after our meeting that Bob and Tim will do a great job advertising and continuing the quality you are used to at the 41st Wausau Antique Show. They are very sincere and have the best intentions, plus Bob has been in the business longer than us!

We wish Bob and Tim a smooth transition promoting the Wausau

Antique Show for the next 40 years!

We thank everyone for your wonderful support and patronage. See you at the show March 22nd and March 23rd, 2025, Ray and I will now have fun in a booth selling and chatting! Thanks for the memories, Ray and Audre' Hanson of AR Promotions.

AR Promotions started the De Pere Show at St. Norberts College for 25 years, the Eagle River Show at Northland Pines High School for 18 years, the Madison at Memorial High School and Keva Center for 13 years, and promoted the Door County Show for 14 Years and Wausau since 1984.

20-30-40 Glass Society

Dedicated to the Preservation of American Made Glass of the 1920's, 30's and 40's

Article & Photos by Silvano Brugioni

The 20-30-40 Glass Society of Illinois is thrilled to present the 52nd Annual Glass Show and Sale, the 2nd longest running Depression Glass Show in the country. The show has a NEW LOCATION this year and every booth is sure to shine with beautiful glassware. Holiday Inn Chicago SW - Countryside Conference Center - 6201 Joliet Rd., Countryside, IL 60525

The show is on Saturday, March 8th at 10am-5pm and Sunday, March 9th at 11am-4pm. There is a special pre-sale offered on Saturday only from 9am to 10am .

The building will be filled with both common and rare pieces of Depression glass and elegant glassware in a variety of shapes, sizes and colors. There will be something for almost every collector and decorators can shop the show for unique items that are not available in retail outlets.

The show will feature 20 plus dealers from all over the United States displaying, Depression, Elegant, Carnival, Pattern, Mid Century Modern, and Art Glass plus Pottery and Kitchenware. Truly something for every collector whether you're a beginner, established or somewhere in-between. There will be a wide variety of price points helping anyone looking for that special touch. May Lou's Crystal Repair will be available to repair your chipped stemware; hourly door prize drawings will occur both days; and club members will be available to help with glass questions.

Depression glass is the colorful glassware made in the 1920's and 30's in many patterns by companies such as Federal, Hazel-Atlas, Hocking and Jeannette. Elegant glass is generally higher quality than Depression glass and is often etched or cut with intricate patterns showing the skills of American glass workers. Major producers of elegant glass include Cambridge, Fostoria, Heisey, New Martinsville, Tiffin and Westmoreland.

In addition to elegant and Depression glass and vintage kitchenware, items such as lamps, vases, planters and figurines made by American potters will be offered. Makers include Hall, McCoy, Roseville, Shawnee and Weller.

Admission is $11 per person. A special pre-sale is offered on Saturday, March 8th only from 9am to 10am for $15 per person. Parking is free and plentiful. Again, please note, show is at a NEW LOCATION.

We'll see you at the show!!
