Editors Letter

*Ground Hog Day
Sunday, February 2nd*

*Valentines Day
Friday, February 14th*

Well Ground Hog Day is this Sunday. What is everyone hoping for. That Punxsutawney sees his shadow, then it is regarded as an omen of six more weeks of bad weather and returns to his hole.

If the day is cloudy and, hence, shadowless, Punxsutawney takes it as a sign of spring and stays above ground. I am on the fence, I do not want to have any more cold but I do not know if I am ready for spring either. I am not sure if it is because of everything that has been going on or just aging. I just do not feel in sync. Brandon and Todd went to pick up wiring supplies for Brandon's house. I believe the electrician is coming to do the work in the next couple of weeks. Todd and I keep trying to get to Brandon's house to help him figure out where he wants some of his light switches and recessed lights. Either Brandon is too busy or we are. Brandon has been working every Saturday and Sunday since Thanksgiving. Mekenzy and Noah are pretty much unpacked except the garage items. They need to build some overhead shelving. Butch has been adapting. I think once he can go play in his own yard, he will feel more at home. First they need to plant some grass and shrubs.

Institute Releases Top Selling Antiques & Vintage Data For 2023

The Asheford Institute's fifteenth annual survey of top decorative arts buying trends from the past twelve months is now available digitally and in print nationwide. The international poll of students and alumni by the Institute serves as an essential guidepost for many in the industry, especially as it relates to the current state of today's decorative arts marketplace, and as a directional sales barometer for those working in the antique and vintage business.

The school's unique position of having unfettered and direct access to a substantial number of industry respondents has made the survey a staple for many in the decorative arts community.

Anthony Harper, the school's lead researcher, says the key to getting meaningful survey results that antique and vintage businesses can actually use to help plan their inventory and buying strategies for the upcoming year is based on receiving actual sales data, alongside item-specific requests from buyers, which can then be used to indicate interest within a particular collecting genre.

Harper says that while most other industries suffered from early supply-chain issues in 2023, it was actually a boon to many working in the decorative arts business, since supplies of used goods were already readily available. "People turned to antiques and vintage items when they couldn't source new," said Harper, "in large part because the items were right there in front of them and could be immediately taken home." This accessibility helped dramatically bolster sales of Victorian and Early American pieces according to many of the dealers involved in the survey. Although supply-chain-buys from those originally looking to purchase 'new' could have potentially affected the poll's stats, Harper says he's firmly convinced the numbers will hold. "Our survey has been showing a resurgence of interest related to brown furniture for a while now," he noted, "but this past year it really began to resonate in a much larger way with a variety of different buyers and collectors."

Fan favorites like Mid-Century Modern and Art Deco also continued to run strong with many of the dealers who participated in the poll, however, Amber Shole, who's been compiling school survey statistics for over twelve years now, says there were some newcomers to the scene as well. "The modern motif isn't over by a long-shot," said Shole, who admitted to witnessing a surprising comeback from a 'look' that many had relegated to the oddities-pile of the 1980s. "It's definitely not a trend I was expecting to see," she said, "but I've learnt over the years to never underestimate people's affinity for nostalgia." Shole went on to say that aside from the quirky 1980s style reboot, there was also another one from the 1950s which didn't involve MCM, but also made the list. "It's really interesting," she says, "just when you think you've seen everything from a particular period of time and collecting genre, something else pops up seemingly out of nowhere." All of which Shole says is why she thinks readers are likely to find a few unexpected surprises in this year's survey results.

As with previous trend samplings, Shole notes that it's primarily Millennials who are continuing to move the needle forward when it comes to buying and collecting. "You may still find Boomers at Sotheby's and Christie's," she says, "but everywhere else it's almost certainly going to be a younger crowd driving the creation of new collecting trends."

For readers seeking the complete 2023 listing of all the best-selling antique and vintage genres and categories contained within the school's yearly poll and survey, you can find the full results (including this year's winner) by visiting the Institute's website at:

with rare extra flame, Mack bulldog, (3) large porcelain Coca-Cola signs and other kinds of pop and drink related items, many petroleum signs, farm related and dairy and cattle signs. Country store items from all kinds of coffee grinders, cast iron rotating nut and bolt cabinet and store counters.

Friday was chucked full of AMAZING wooden, tin and porcelain signs, salesman samples, cast iron, weathervanes, windmill weights and a lot more! Plus we had a few pocket watches, animal wall mounts, cloth seed corn bags, kitchen primitives and rare corn shellers!

We had another round from the collection of Dan and Myrna Coleman of Portville, New York. This time around we had many rare levels of all kinds, along with hand planes, blumb bobs, trammels and wooden rules and more that you did not want to miss and will not be seeing anytime soon.

Pedal to the Metal - Classic Cars, Motorcycles, Vintage Collectibles, and More!

Article & Photos by Donley Auctions

Don't miss this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to acquire rare and unique treasures!

Only 1,257 Shelby GT 500 Fastbacks were built in 1969. This is a rare chance to own one of the most powerful, sought after iconic 60's muscle cars ever made. Original build was on March 05, 1969 at Dearborn, Michigan as documented by an Elite Marti Report included with this car. The Shelby invoice is also included showing the sale to Fergus Ford of Skokie, IL. The car has a fully restored exterior with digital photo restoration file and receipts included. Color is T5 Candy Apple Red (Ford #2008-A) with yellow/gold racing stripes. Original white interior with high back bucket seats. Factory roll bar has original Shelby 5-point inertia-reel racing harnesses. Carpeting and seats, dash pad and steering wheel are all original, thoroughly cleaned only. All other soft trim pieces, including door panels, headliner, windlace, and small trim have been replaced. The 428 Cobra Jet engine has new bearings, rings, camshaft, lifters, etc. Cylinder heads have received valve job. Original Holley 715 CFM carburetor and distributor are original, and have 100% correct numbers with original factory tags where applicable. All casting numbers are correct and all belts, hoses, filters, etc. are correct for the car. Car has power steering, and power brakes (front disc). Original C-6 automatic transmission with cast iron tail shaft. Original 9 inch traction lock differential. Original 15" Shelby mag wheels with original Goodyear Polyglas GT G60-15 tires. 59494 original miles on the odometer. Overall, a real head turner.

Nice all original restored Lake Breeze Motor Model B 16" fan made by the Wm. J.H. Strong Co. of Chicago, Illinois. Has 4 brass blades with a brass cage and the name badge is still intact. Brass kerosene lamp font and glass chimney. Hot air motor turns over freely. Has original cast iron motor cover which are almost always missing or replaced. Mounted in a wrought iron frame. Measures 41" tall x 18" wide x 13" deep.

Circa 1925 silver over bronze sculpture titled, L' Aviation by French artist Frederic Focht (1879-1937) celebrates the achievement of flight with a winged male figure riding atop a meteor above the clouds. In overall VG condition. Signed Fred Focht. Sculpture sits on a black marble base. Measures 19.75" high, 30.5" wide, 5.5" deep.

This magnificent chandelier is one of six matching fixtures that were installed in the Goodman Auditorium located in Virginia, Minnesota, in 1920. The 1500 seat Goodman was called the Carnegie Hall of the Midwest because of its excellent acoustics. The last performance was held on May 20, 2023. The building is currently being readied for demolition. The chandelier is a classic pre depression 3 tier type found in large auditoriums, movie palaces, and large commercial buildings. The iron and steel structure is hung from 6 heavy cascading chains with each chain having an ornamental break in the center. The top tier has a pierced ornamental gallery with 24 standard base lamps and measures 56" in diameter. The second tier has 8 standard base lamps and measures 22" in diameter. The bottom tier has a 6 standard base cluster with a 10" finial of formed metal acanthus leaves. Overall height of the fixture is 106". This does not include the 10" ceiling canopy or the hoist pipe which is included. The chandelier can have a longer drop by adding chain between the canopy ring and the fixture ring. The fixture has recently been rewired and is ready to go. The weight is estimated at 300 lbs. Seldom do these fixtures ever come up for sale as most of these buildings are now landmarked and the cost to reproduce a chandelier of this quality and size would be out of the question.

A Candy Apple Red 1969 Shelby GT 500 headlines Donley Auctions' Pedal to the Metal Auction on February 15-16. But wait, there's more! We also have a 1969 Shelby GT restoration project with a VIN number just one digit off from the restored Shelby. It offers an exciting opportunity for customization and investment.

Explore a diverse collection of over 50 classic cars and motorcycles, with names like Austin Healey, Vincent Rapide, Jaguar, Corvette, Bentley, Indian, Norton, Cadillac, Gold Star, Mercury, Harley Davidson, and more. We also have several Model A cars and a vast inventory of Model A parts.

And that's just the beginning! Day 1 also features a treasure trove of petroliana, including gas pumps, porcelain signs, gas globes, and road signs. You'll also find a colorful collection of pedal cars and neon signs.
