Ground Hog Day
Monday,
February
2nd

We hope that everyone had a Wonderful Christmas spent with family and friends. Lots of food and goodies to be enjoyed. We had the whole family together. Tia made it in on December 23rd, her original flight was cancelled and she discovered it standing in the TSA pre-check. She was able to quickly rebook, running through the airports for each of her flights. This year it worked out that all three kids happened to be off during Tia's time home. They tried to spend as much time together as possible. Tia also made a trip to Sheboygan to spend a whole day with her best friend and college roommate. It was also nice that Tia was able to meet and spend time with her brother (Brandon's) girlfriend Ashley. So, our table was full with Ashley and Grandpa (Bob) added to our untraditional dinner. Our Christmas dinner was very filling. We went with lasagne, that I seriously think weighed 20 pounds. There was chicken parmasean and shrimp alfredo, garlic bread and ceasar salad. Dessert was peanut butter pie, cookies and fruit pizza. New to the line up for Christmas was the football game. Usually after dinner we play a bunch of games. I think everyone had pasta overload and fell asleep. It was nice having all the kids together for the holiday. Tia flew back on Tuesday and again, I am left with items, mostly books that I have to mail to her. She has been encouraging all her friends and family to join with her and read more in this coming new year.

52nd Winter Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association Show & Sale

February 6 & 7, 2026 (Friday & Saturday) • Waukesha (Milwaukee) Wisconsin

Article & Photos by Debbie McArdle (Iron Horse Antiques)

In 1948, shortly after the end of World War II, several Wisconsin antiques dealers banded together to form the Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association. Over those 78 years WADA has connected us to our shared past via their antiques shows, consistently offering human-friendly antiques at affordable prices. Authenticity, condition, and rarity have always been the guidelines for this top-notch group of professional dealers with offerings at ALL price levels. Please join them Friday, February 6 and Saturday, February 7, 2026 to celebrate their 52nd Winter Show.

CENTURIES OF MERCHANDISE!

Wander the show's three large rooms providing spacious aisles and booths. Fifty-eight dealers from eight states will bring merchandise representing numerous centuries - from ancient artifacts to vintage holiday, from jewelry to cupboards - and at affordable prices. Stop for a catered lunch during all show hours where the reputation for good food continues. Plenty of indoor seating is available and a traditional Wisconsin Fish Fry will return late Friday afternoon so bring your appetite! The Waukesha County Expo Center's Forum Building, 1000 Northview Road, Waukesha, WI 53188, is the home of this semi-annual event. Show hours are Friday, 10-6 and Saturday, 10-4.

The Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association is a non-profit organization. Your admission of $8.00 funds grants to Wisconsin historical preservation groups. A $1.00 discount toward admission for 2 is available at: www.WisconsinAntiquesDealers.com or with this article.

* FREE PARKING * ATM ON PREMISES *

Free with paid admission: "Happy 250th America!" a special exhibit showcasing select patriotic Americana pieces from various private collections.

REMEMBER, while you are at the show, sign up for the drawing for one of five $50 gift certificates redeemable at the Fall, 2026 Show!

Catch a Glimpse . . .

Go to www.WisconsinAntiquesDealers.com and click on "SHOW PREVIEW" to see dealers' offerings from previous shows - just enough to indicate the variety you can expect to see at the upcoming semi-annual show. As soon as dealers provide photos representative of their show stock, those photos will also be added to the website so check back periodically.

Once again the Friends of the Wisconsin Historical Society (FWHS) have been given a booth at the event to promote their ongoing "30th Star Benefit Antiques Auction". W.A.D.A is proud to be the founding and continuing sponsor of the FWHS Auctions which raise important funding for Wisconsin historic preservation endeavors. Donations of antiques and other interesting salable items will be accepted at their booth and tax-deductible receipts will be provided.

Milwaukee Miniature Motors Show

"The Best Of What's Available Out There"

Article & Photos by Jim Welytok (Unique Events)

The Milwaukee Miniature Motors show was first started way back in the mid 1970's by Mike Dunn. It has been held all these years in many locations throughout the Milwaukee area.

It is held at the Waukesha County Exposition Center, in the Forum Building located at 1000 Northview Road in Waukesha Wisconsin. It is by far one of the continuously longest running shows of it's type in the entire Midwest!

I personally started my own collection of toys by visiting it frequently as a teenager, and never stopped. OMG look at me now, I'm in charge of it! What have I gotten myself into?

You will find this show offers "the best of what's available out there" offered by veteran and novice collectors as well. Come join us on February 15th from 10am to 2pm you'll be glad you did. Always an exciting experience. Admission is $10, 12 years and under are free with adult. We offer an early bird 7:30am admission for $25.

Every time you visit you just never know what you'll find! For more information contact Jim at 262-366-1314 or visit www.uniqueeventsshow.com

Asheford's Survey Of Top Selling Vintage & Antique Trends Of 2024

New York - The Asheford Institute has released its sixteenth annual survey of leading decorative arts purchasing trends from the past year, available both digitally and in print nationwide. This international study, conducted among the Institute's students and alumni, provides crucial insights for industry professionals, offering a snapshot of the current decorative arts market and serving as a key sales indicator for those in the antique and vintage trade.

The school's unique position of having direct access to a substantial number of industry respondents has made the survey a staple for many in the decorative arts community. Tony Drew, the school's lead researcher, says the key to getting meaningful survey results that antique and vintage businesses can actually use to help plan their inventory and buying strategies for the upcoming year is based on receiving actual sales data, alongside item-specific requests from buyers, which can then be used to indicate interest within a particular collecting genre.

As with most businesses this past year, Drew says that ongoing worries related to interest rate hikes had an effect on almost every segment of the economy early on - including antique and vintage concerns. "High interest rates forced people to tighten their belts and head out in search of deals - including those related to decorative arts purchases," he said. The knock-on effect from this was that many of the dealers surveyed indicated a dramatic increase in foot-traffic for their bricks-and-clicks businesses, as people hunted down resale bargains, which translated into higher sales overall. "The rising numbers were across the board," said Drew, "however, there were some notable standouts when it came to the type of antiques and collectables people were buying."

Amber Shole, who's been compiling survey data for the school for over thirteen years, says poll results showed that while some customers may have turned to the antique and vintage market for interest rate refuge and a cost of living hack, they stayed for much more. "It's no longer simply about cost-conscious millennials and Gen Z's scooping up deals on Victorian furniture," says Shole, "but more about buyers looking for long-term decorative commitments, with an eye towards sustainability, uniqueness, and eco-friendly options."

Shole also noted that while fan favorites like Automobilia, Textiles, and to a lesser extent Mid-Century Modern, continued to prowl near the top of the results board, there was also a strong move towards more traditional antique themes and items, with an early twentieth style that had largely been overlooked in the past decade suddenly surging up the charts. "That's what's really interesting about the surveys," says Shole, "You never really know what categories are going to place where, until all the data is finally in, and even then the results can often come as a bit of a surprise."

Contrary to previous polling samples, Shole says this year's group of buyers also ran the gamut when it came to age. "For the past few years it's most definitely been the youngsters pushing the antique and vintage markets forward," she said, "but as more traditional antiques have returned, so have some baby-boomers." All of which Shole says just goes to prove the old adage about surprises...

For those wanting to view the entire line-up from this year's annual survey results of the best-selling antique and vintage genre categories from 2024, including this year's winners, you can find all the results at: <https://www.asheford.com/2024-survey-results.html>.

Farm toys represent more than just miniature replicas of tractors and harvesters, they're tiny time machines that bring back childhood memories and celebrate rural heritage. Farm toy production dates back to the early 20th Century, with companies like Arcade Manufacturing and Vindex paving the way by casting iron models of tractors and farm equipment. These early toys were heavy, durable, and built to last mirroring the real machines they were modeled after.

By the 1940s and '50s, the landscape shifted as companies like Ertl began producing die-cast metal tractors. Founded in Iowa, a region synonymous with American agriculture, Ertl quickly became a dominant force in the farm toy world. Their highly detailed, licensed replicas of brands like John Deere, Case IH, and Allis-Chalmers helped establish farm toys as collectibles rather than just playthings. For many, collecting farm toys isn't just about acquiring objects it's about preserving a way of life. These miniature machines honor the legacy of American farming, the innovation of agricultural machinery, and the personal stories of those who lived and worked on the land.

An indispensable resource catering to enthusiasts and collectors of Barbie®, this extensively updated and enhanced edition presents a wealth of new visuals and meticulously updated price points, all encapsulated within a conveniently portable format.

Spanning across more than 1,200 exquisite full-color photographs, this comprehensive compendium documents the entirety of Barbie's evolution during her classic era, spanning from 1959 to 1972. Encompassing not just Barbie herself but also her sibling Skipper®, and their friends, relations, and pets. Ken®, Midge®, Allan®, Francie®, Skooter®, and all the rest are here.

Unveiling an unprecedented level of intricacy and accompanied by an abundance of visuals, each photograph impeccably displays the original ensemble components. Comprehensively accounting both for items that have been removed from their packaging and those still intact within, the valuation insights are comprehensive. Alongside this, crucial information including stock identification numbers, manufacturing dates, and corresponding values is meticulously supplied for each individual entry. This edition fundamentally transforms the understanding of Barbie collectibles, establishing itself as an unparalleled reference guide adorned with a treasure trove of imagery and insights.

Author Bio: Hillary Shilkitus James is a doll dealer who specializes in vintage Barbie® dolls, their clothes, accessories, and other unique Barbie doll items.
